ECAI Workshop:
The Atlas of Maritime Buddhism

25 March 2013
ISEAS Seminar Room II

This workshop aims at illuminating the Buddhist past by documenting the circulation of ideas, people and goods across Asia via the so-called “Maritime Silk Road(s)”. The ECAI Atlas of Maritime Buddhism Project highlights the maritime contribution to the development of a premodern global network of trade and cultural diffusion, within which Buddhism was seamlessly integrated.

The Atlas initiative is supported by an international team of researchers utilizing new data collection technologies and advanced data mapping to integrate the latest archaeological evidence. This workshop provides the project’s researchers an opportunity to present their findings and to discuss best practices in the preservation and digitalization of cultural heritage.

SESSION I:
Technical Aspects of Cultural Heritage
9am-1pm

SESSION II:
Atlas of Maritime Buddhism
2pm-6pm

To register, please write to: betty@iseas.edu.sg

Co-organized by the Electronic Cultural Atlas Initiative (ECAI) and the Nalanda-Sriwijaya Centre, Institute of Southeast Asian Studies